A unique training model in Europe. The broad range of training on offer under one roof from the Institut del Teatre represents an exceptional training model in Europe.

For those wishing to train as a professional dancer and obtain the Professional Qualification in Dance while studying the subjects included within Spanish Compulsory Secondary Education (ESO) and/or Higher Secondary Education (Batxillerat), the School of Secondary and Artistic Education - Professional Dance Academy (EESA/CPD by its Catalan initials) offers integrated study of secondary education, Performance Arts higher secondary education and the Professional Degree in Dance in the specialised fields of Classical Dance, Contemporary Dance and Spanish Dance.

For dance graduates, the young IT Dansa company offers a programme of two-year professional internships and a grant for selected students. During this period, the grant will allow them to work on a repertoire of choreographies by leading artists and give them the opportunity to present their work on national and international stages.

For those seeking advanced training specialised in teaching and creation in the field of dance, the Higher Dance Academy (CSD) offers courses leading to the Advanced Qualification in Dance in the specialised fields of Choreography and Interpretation, and Dance Pedagogy.

All training is taught at the Institut del Teatre in Barcelona, an institution with over 70 years of history since it began teaching people the art of dance back in 1944.

The Institut del Teatre offers quality training to prepare future professionals for the challenges they will encounter in the world of dance.
